Share a video to an Echo360 course
Every Echo360 video you create goes to an area called your "Library". This document explains how to share a video that's in your Library to an Echo360 course section. There are a few reasons you might need to do that:

1. You forgot to specify a course when you created the video using the Universal Capture software, so the video went directly to your Library.
2. You don't want your students to see the video right away, so you deliberately chose to publish to the Library so you can first view and/or edit the recording.
3. You want to share a Zoom recording that was automatically copied into your Library.
4. You want to re-use a video you created for another course, possibly one you've done in the past.

To get to your Library, login at https://echo360.org and select Library near the upper-left of the page. At the top are a number of searching and sorting tools you can use to find the video you need.

Click the three-dot ellipsis in the lower right corner of a video's tile and select Share:

Share Settings

| Individual | Links | Class | Group |

Course   Select the destination course

PHYS 151: General Astronomy ▼

Term   Section

2019 FL ▼   01 ▼

Existing Class   New Class

Enter a title for the video here.

Class Name

Search for Extraterrestrial Life

| Start Date | Start Time | Duration |
| MM/DD/YYYY 📅 | 3:41 AM PM | 1 hr 0 min |

Class Description

Available

⦿ Now   ○ Never   ○ Date   MM/DD/YYYY 📅

Unavailable

⦿ Never   ○ Date   MM/DD/YYYY 📅

Close   Share

On the next screen, click Class along the top and use the drop-down menus to select the destination course, section, and semester. On the same form, click New Class and enter a title for the video then click the Share button.