GLOBAL PATIENT SAFETY LAW, POLICY, AND PRACTICE—
With Particular Focus on Developing and Transitioning Countries

Professor John Tingle is an Associate Professor at Nottingham Law School, Nottingham Trent University in the UK. He has a fortnightly magazine column in the British Journal of Nursing where he focuses on patient safety and the legal aspects of nursing and medicine. He teaches Tort and Medical Law in the LLB program at Nottingham Trent and Patient Safety in the LLM program in Health Law and Ethics. Professor Tingle has published over 500 articles and a number of leading texts in patient safety and nursing law. He is also a regular contributor to the Harvard Law School’s Bill of Health blog. Currently, Professor Tingle is a visiting scholar at Harvard Law School where his research is focused on the development of patient safety policies, cultures, and structures in developing and transitioning countries (with particular emphasis on Uganda, Kenya, and Malawi).

Wednesday, November 7, 2018
12:00 noon | Law School Common

Sponsored by the Clason Speaker Series.

All lectures open to students, alumni, the University community, and the general public. Lunch will be served.

For more information, call 413-782-1451 or email Professor René Reich-Graefe at rene.reich-graefe@law.wne.edu.

The Clason Speaker Series presents expert lectures to the School of Law. The series is named after Charles R. Clason, a prominent local attorney and member of the U.S. House of Representatives, who held the position of Dean of the School of Law from 1954 to 1970. Today, the purpose of the Charles and Emma Clason Endowment Fund is to host speakers who will enhance the academic environment of the School of Law at the University.